

Jason Webber
Training Instructor

Jason Webber is a training instructor at the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C) and a Lieutenant with the Clarksburg (WV) Police Department. Jason has assisted NW3C curriculum developers as an intellectual property (IP) theft investigations subject matter expert. He has participated in more than sixty law enforcement classes and seminars focused on online IP theft investigative techniques in the last six years. On several occasions, Jason provided “hands-on” assistance to IP theft task forces on detecting and investigating online sellers of counterfeit products.

For the past 21 years with Clarksburg Police Department, Jason has devoted 16 years investigating financial and computer related crimes. His extensive background in white collar financial and cyber related crimes has led to successful federal and state prosecutions. Jason currently serves as the Commander of Investigations and works with the Federal Bureau of Investigations Cyber Crime Task Force. He is also the Internet Crimes Against Children agency representative for Clarksburg PD.

Jason has holds several certifications including Cyber Investigation (social media and technical skills), FBI Financial Crimes, FBI Instructor Development, SWAT (level II and explosives and breaching).

